

Grade 7 Briddhashram Visit

By Anandita Shrestha and Sakshi Sharma, Grade 7

On the purpose of service learning, we went to the Briddhashram situated near the Pashupatinath temple. Hoping to spread smile to the old helpless people we went there to have a glance at them and do some social learning in the society.

As we went to school, as soon as possible we collected all the parcels from our side to the old friends and we started off our journey. We reached carrying out boxes of biscuits, juices and noodles. We entered and on our first sight we saw some old friends chatting, smiling, and observing us. Then we started to distribute all we could share with our old friends. We even shared our feelings and some hand-made cards with them. As the joyous moment was passing by we also took some snaps of it so we could memorize it and cherish it. Overall the trip to the Briddhashram was a big success and we took off from the place with a big smile thinking we had a great success.

Thanks to Mike and all our friends for a great tour that we will remember always. Social service was like a moment to cherish and we learned that challenges can be both stepping stones and stumbling blocks but it's just the matter of how you view them and it was a great experience helping! It was like a gift we gave to ourselves though there were sad endings for them, they were about happy as they make up their minds to be happy because they know that happiness is a inside job and the old people have understood it very well.
